Ebersole Supports Automotive Technology Program!

This photo of the AM Automotive Class was taken at the Lebanon County CTC the day after our November Open House. The vehicle they are standing behind is a hard-to-find 2019 HONDA CIVIC TYPE R. This vehicle, along with many others that were on display that evening, were from the Ebersole Dealerships in Lebanon. Mr. Randy Ebersole and his family, are major sponsors of the Automotive Technology program.

Ebersole Dealerships along with the automotive instructor, Mr. Angelo Cuva, give the students an opportunity to practice on newer preowned vehicles and receive hands on experience with newer technology.

Ebersole Dealerships employ many of our students and they have a remarkable commitment to the students of the Automotive program. Students employed by Ebersoles have an opportunity after graduation to continue their education at Penn Tech College or HACC.

This is just one of the benefits of enrolling in the Automotive Technology program at Lebanon County Career & Technology Center.

COOPERATIVE EDUCATION

The CTC's Co-Op program continues to grow each month with new students beginning the work experience at a local business. Currently we have 35 students participating in the co-op program.

Culinary & Pastry Arts:

Serving the Community that Serves Us

On Saturday, February 1st, the Pastry & Culinary Art Students catered an event at Warehouse 435 (Formerly Hidden Still).

This event was sponsored by Downtown Lebanon to raise funds to offset costs for yearly city expenses. The students created Roaring 20's themed hors d'oeuvres and a dessert buffet to compliment the Roaring 20's Murder Mystery Event.

Stop Bullying

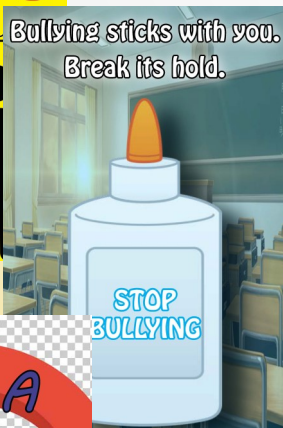

Jordan Davis

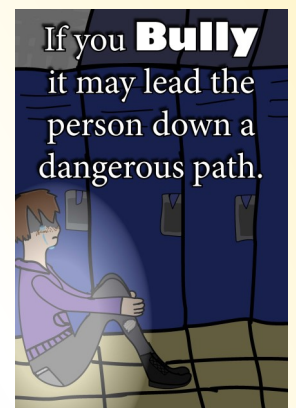

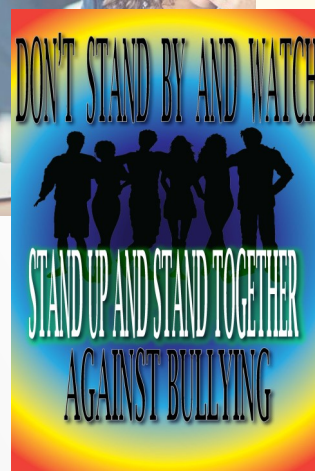

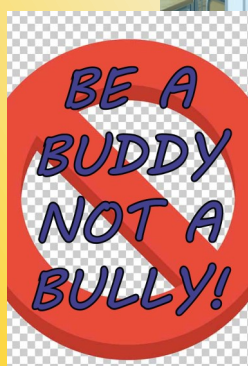

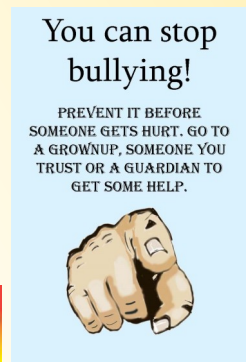

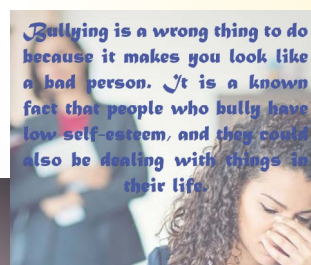

Mia Reigert

Stop Bullying! This was the theme for a “Poster Contest” sponsored by LCCTC Administration. The Commercial Art class was tasked with creating posters to increase awareness of bullying. Judging the contest was Special Pops staff and the students throughout the building. Jordan Davis (Commonwealth Charter Academy) was chosen winner by the student body and Mia Reigert (Cedar Crest) was the staff winner. These two students are being rewarded with lunch at the Hilltop Café. Thanks to all the students who participated, you are all winners!

“A Butterfly’s Wings” By Makayla Sherrid “The butterfly is a very beloved and cherished creature for its stunning and unique patterns, yet it can't see its own wings. Just as some of us cannot see our own beauty and grace. However, we can bestow this hope and show the 'butterflies' of our world they have value. We can give them resources that help them through difficult times and show them there is more beauty and light in them then they are able to see. I have kept the suicide hotline in my phone for the last three years. I always wanted it for others if they needed it. I have given this hotline number to so many people who wanted it available and told them they are beautiful and mean something, but I couldn't tell myself this. I found I'm just fragile and my feelings are okay to feel with support from others. Like a butterfly, someone can see others wings but not their own. Then, I had my idea for the PSA. I want other butterflies like me to see this and know people see them as beautiful, kind people in the world even if they don't see it in themselves. I also want to provide the national suicide prevention hotline to more people and hope people who need it will find hope.”

Makayla and all of Commercial Art would like to thank the staff and students who voted for the winning poster, videos and audio. Your votes and interest in the Suicide Prevention initiative helped Makayla to be recognized for her efforts.

Congratulations

Lebanon Bologna Fest and Winter Carnival

The Lebanon County CTC's apprentices and secondary students participated in the Lebanon Rotary's Annual Bologna Fest held on Jan 25th at the Lebanon Expo Center. Connor Woodburn, Hannah Koehler and Katlyn Nissley who are apprentices honed their skills with an Olaf and snowflake ice sculpture. Zar Waite, a senior from Cedar Crest High School, chipped away at creating a penguin.

All of the pieces contained the Rotary Gear symbol, took three hours to complete and the ice blocks weigh 300 lbs. each!

Great Job Everyone!
