- 18) HOMEWORK: Homework is a vital part of the learning process of the Culinary & Pastry Art Programs. Homework introduces students into topics of discussion which will impact the child's learning and class participation grade. Failure to turn in homework after a short grace period will also affect the student's work ethic grade. A daily grade reduction in both knowledge and work ethic will be assessed daily until all work is handed in fully completed.

- 19) With the recent pandemic, we will adhere to all the safety and health policies of the Lebanon CTC and will wear a mask and protective gear to protect myself and my fellow classmates as a responsible student here at the Lebanon County CTC when I am instructed to do so.

Please Sign last sheet and turn into the chefs to be kept on file.

Culinary & Pastry Arts Students

We belong to one of the most honorable professions in the world! We have the power to nourish the masses and offer people an escape from their daily cares for a couple of hours! The modern chef is at celebrity status now and is a focal point in any worthwhile establishment. With all this attention and power there is a greater standard placed upon young chefs. The expectations listed above help lay the foundation on which you, the young professional chef, will build your career upon. This is an opportunity for the young professional chef to distinguish himself or herself as being able to deal with pressures and responsibilities of the Hospitality Industry. If you feel that you have what it takes to be the next Thomas Keller or Ana Ros please sign below with your parents and let's start something great!

I _____, will adhere to the expectations set in this (Print student name)

Culinary and Pastry Arts Policy. Any infraction of these policies will be dealt with according to school polices and the penalties listed above.
